

FIGHT COMES AFTER OFFICERS' REMOVAL

Sergeant Pilkington Beats Up Lon Conway After Brother Is "Fired."

MORE COPPERS GO

Whole Police Structure Threatens to Crumble About Ears of City.

The cloud of trouble which settled about the police department Tuesday night with the removal of two detectives, was punctuated later in the evening by the double-barreled fight which occurred in the main street of the city between James Pilkington, sergeant of the police traffic squad, and Lon Conway who, rumor has it, is backing the element represented in the department by J. H. Townsend.

According to witnesses, the two met after Pilkington had learned that charges of conduct unbecoming an officer had been made by Conway with reference to Grant Pilkington, formerly a detective, and a brother of the sergeant. Pilkington, according to the same witnesses, informed Conway that he could whip him and was willing to try. Conway called the bet and a few blows were struck. One of the combatants then suggested that they leave Main street, and into the alley in the rear of the barber shop, before which the first fight occurred. As they passed through a store to reach the alley, Conway asked Pilkington what the fight was about and when informed it was the outgrowth of the police-squad problem, Conway declared that he was willing to fight if Pilkington would remove his star and gun.

Breaks Out Anew.

This was done and the fight broke out anew with history repeating the efforts of the traffic officer. Conway was rescued by friends, and the two fighters separated. Later Pilkington appeared at Convention hall, near the corner for the encounter. Quick upon the removal from office of Detective Grant Pilkington and Joe Duane, officers with coats of experience to their credit, it was suggested yesterday morning at the police station that the "con-way" had been deeper than at first anticipated and that West Tulsa had lost the entire force of police officers stationed there and that Motorcycle Policemen (Hines) had been removed in order to meet new expenses.

This announcement was not a surprise in some quarters, as it had been rumored about that confidential reports in the hands of the police department had been made by other officers on the force, and that these had been used to predicate charges that were really the cause of the removal of the officer.

This practice of "confidential reports" has become an institution in the department since its recent reorganization, and every officer in the department admits that he is not sure of the support of his fellow officers in clearing his name of the other charges made against him.

But two detectives are now left in the department and these have been busy for the past two days in the recovery of stolen automobiles and other

THE THREAT TO BUCHAREST

Mackensen's advance through the Dobruja is indicated by the shaded portion of the map. He is in the distance of Cornavoda, where the railway to Bucharest crosses the Danube. The Kaiser-Tsauton armies may move either northward into Rumanian Bessarabia, where Odessa would be their objective, or westward, over the Danube and along the railway toward Bucharest. The latter operation seems the more probable.

TULSA SECURE ON GRAND OPERA MAP

Putting Over the Recent Season Will Give Impetus to Movement.

The men who have been in the closest touch with grand opera patrons and with the management of the grand opera are well qualified to announce the benefits that have been derived by the entire community by the first of this city's grand opera seasons.

They do it with vigor, heartiness and with a feeling that they, representing the people of Tulsa, have successfully done something well that in other cities the size of Tulsa was not even attempted, and in large cities was done, but not with the success that was achieved here.

The chairman of the opera committee, W. G. Vandever, is enthusiastic over the results and believes that both the Durbar and the grand opera can be pulled off next year and in years to come. He says: "You can't down Tulsa on any undertaking. The committee did lots of hard work, but was supported loyally by the good people of Tulsa. I think we can pull off the Durbar and the grand opera both next year."

Clarence B. Douglas, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, says: "The day of the wild west show can't show for Tulsa is gone by. The day of the grand opera has arrived. In the phenomenal success attending this great musical enterprise there is glory enough for all."

Has Made Slogan. A. J. Ridd believes that "In Tulsa's grand opera success she has made good her slogan, 'Tulsa Will.' As a member of the executive committee I did my best and am proud of the results."

L. J. Rosser says: "Tulsa leads as usual. It was a big undertaking and Tulsa rose to the occasion and put it across."

Lee Kunsman is brief and to the point: "Tulsa did and always does respond to a good cause. Three cheers for Tulsa!"

W. R. Guberson says: "The successful result of the Tulsa grand opera season has placed Tulsa in a position in the musical world far beyond the comprehension of the casual observer and will make it possible for her to do the same thing next year, even on a greater scale if possible."

TULSANS TO TAKE PILGRIMAGE SOON

Will Stop at Several Towns Along Route of the Journey.

Great preparations are being made for the pilgrimage of the Akkar temple A. A. N. M. S., which will occur Friday, November 3. A special train composed of Pullmans will leave Tulsa over the Frisco Friday morning at 8:10 o'clock which will allow the nobility residing in the adjacent towns an opportunity to reach Tulsa in time to board the special train.

Those in charge of the pilgrimage have announced that they have chartered a "through" train, but that it will be stopped for the Red Fox anywhere along the line, even at a crossing or cattle guard. The caravan will stop in Oilton for half an hour and the Shrine band will take part in the exercises which will be held there.

The nobility of Cushing, Drumright, Oilton and Shamrock are making great preparations for the reception of the caravan and all efforts are being made to make this the banner pilgrimage of the local temple.

The Strand theater in Drumright will be the headquarters for the caravan, at which the exercises will be held and all business transacted. It was announced at the headquarters yesterday that each noble was required to bring in one novice and for a list of those eligible has been prepared. The use of several balls of hogtying rope is advised.

CONSIDER SETTling FARM GROUPS HERE

Representatives of Organization Are Looking Over This Territory at Present.

With a view to planting a settlement of Dutch and German farmers in Tulsa county, Curt von Lindt and A. G. Thompson, representing a community of farmers living near Chicago, Ill., are at present considering prices here and looking over the territory.

One of the main reasons for their coming here was the fact that Tulsa county won the first prize at the Oklahoma state fair last year.

The men went yesterday afternoon on a tour of inspection to several different points in the county.

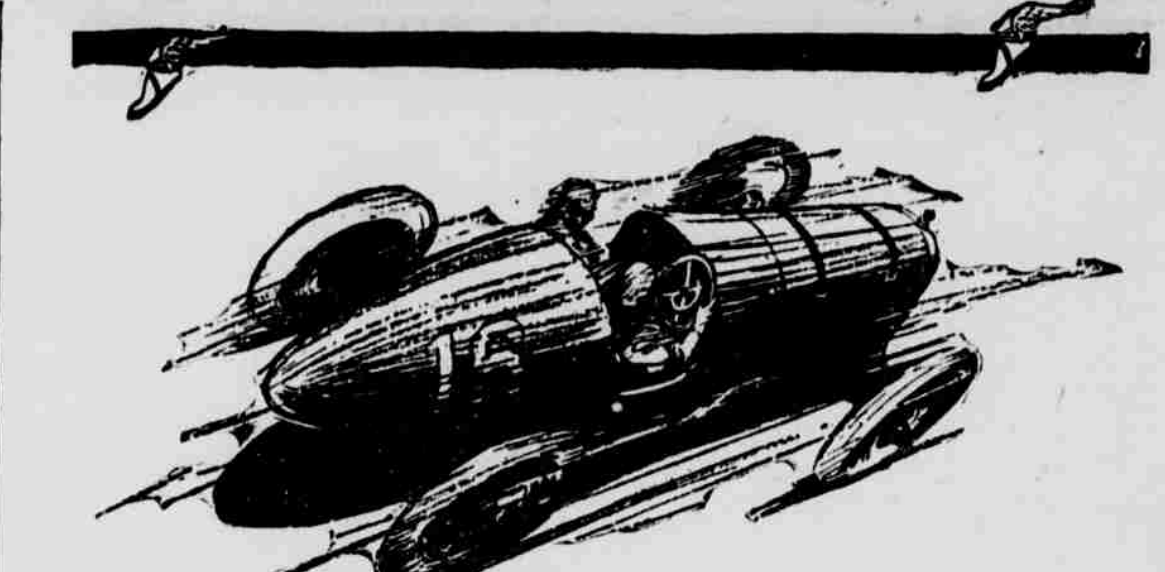

Several other parts of the country are being inspected and when they have finished they will return to Chicago and hold consultation with those they represent and then determine whether the settlement will be brought here.

Lindt and Thompson say they are very favorably impressed with the results of their inspection.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

East less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poisons, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, while millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

WHO DESIRES TO NAME A STREET?

Commissioners Seek Suitable Name for Newest Thoroughfare Here.

Who desires the honor of naming one of Tulsa's new streets?

The city commissioners are opening a thoroughfare in West Tulsa which will be the main street of that portion of the city. But it can't be called Main street as that would conflict with the principal downtown thoroughfare in West Tulsa which the citizens' interest in their municipality to bring appropriate and numerous suggestions.

The new street begins at the south end of the Arkansas river bridge and runs to the Celia Clinton schoolhouse, where it connects with the New Tulsa-Sapulpa highway. It runs through 12 blocks of West Tulsa. Bridge and Center streets are new parts of the thoroughfare to be opened by the city. They will be widened and improved to conform with the standard of other streets in Tulsa.

The contest for naming the street will close next Tuesday. At that time the commissioners will select the suggestion which they believe the most suitable.

No Coal Relief.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 1.—There is not relief in sight today for the coal shortage situation in Ohio and many factories were reported to be operating on a hand-to-mouth basis.

Cleveland dealers declared today that only ninety cars of coal were received in that city yesterday in place of the 750 normally received.

A small boy astride of a donkey was taking some supplies to an army camp in Texas not long ago and got there just as a detachment of soldiers preceded by a band was marching past.

"Why are you holding on to your brother so hard?" asked a group of soldiers who were standing near and wanted to tease the country boy.

"I'm afraid he might enlist," said the lad, without batting an eyelash.—Philadelphia Ledger.
